

Arkansas Democrat-Gazette/CINDY BLANCHARD

Digging for history Minnie Burford of Fayetteville checks the depth of her digging Thursday at an archaeological excavation of a mill worker's quarters at the Old Van Winkle Mill at Beaver Lake State Park on Arkansas 12. Volunteers from George Sabo's historical archaeology class, the Arkansas Archeological Survey and University of Texas at Austin are working on the excavation during spring break. The mill operated between 1850-1890.